How to get to Braga?
If you come from abroad, the best way to get to Portugal and Braga, is by airplane. The next airport to Braga is Porto airport, located in Porto. When at the airport, you have two options to get to Braga.

Option 1: you may take the tram to Estação de Campanhã, the largest train station in Porto. For this purpose, you have to buy a card, the Andante, and then charge it with a way. Then you may travel to Campanhã. It will take you around 40 minutes. When in Campanhã, you have to buy a ticket at the train station to Braga. There are trains each hour during the day and the journey will take you around 1 hour. The Andante, the way to Campanhã and the train ticket to Braga cost around 10 euros. Keep the Andante to your return or if you want to go to Porto and use the tram.

Option 2: you may take the taxi to your hotel in Braga. One journey costs around 70 euros during the day.
